TIP OF THE WEEK!

How do I make myself more visible for a particular role?

A useful way to do this is making use of LinkedIn (or setting up an account if you haven't done so already). LinkedIn is a handy networking platform where you can manage your professional identity and navigate your career with confidence. You will be able to see other people employed in the types of roles you are searching for, see what skills they have and mimic their journey to get the role you truly desire. To sign in or make an account, please click the following link: <https://gb.linkedin.com/>

LinkedIn also host a range of online training and free courses which you can access. Upon completion, you will be provided with a certificate which is then shown on your account and proves to be highly favoured amongst employers. For more information, please click the following link: <https://www.linkedin.com/learning>

FREE NUMERACY SKILLS TRAINING

The government has launched a new programme to help adults improve their numeracy skills. The programme will be available to any adult over 19 who does not currently have a maths GCSE at grade C/4 or above (or equivalent qualification) and is intended to be offered either online or in-person on either an intensive or a part-time basis.

The programme will be free for those that meet the above criteria. Please click the link below to sign up:

NCL Careers Hub Careers Advisor Profile

Fay Boswell, Careers Advisor
NCL Covid-19 Vaccination Staff Retention Project

How long have you worked in the NHS?

I worked in the NHS for 6 years before I decided on a career change in project management/careers in 2016. I spent many years in the NHS in various support roles including working as a Health Care Assistant on Medical and Surgical Wards as well as Children's Outpatients. More recently I worked as a Maternity Support worker across all wards in Maternity. Each role was great experience and I learned many valuable skills in the process but ultimately caring for patients from new-born all the way through to the elderly was a rewarding experience that I will never forget. Working on the wards was challenging but that's what kept me going. I love to push myself and I don't like being bored - that's one thing you will never be in the NHS. It feels good to be back!

Why did you want to join this team as a Career Advisor for our Vaccination Staff?

It is amazing that so many people have given their time to help ease the pressure with the vaccination clinics so helping them secure a permanent position in the NHS is my way of saying thank you.

What do you like to do outside of work?

In my spare time I like to make board games

Tell us a fun fact about yourself!

If I were an animal, I would be a Lioness, bold and fierce yet gentle and nurturing all in one.
